and have secured a collection of these fine instruments at the cost of many thousands of dollars, and which have required years of research throughout the entire world to obtain. Having secured the services of Mr. E. T. TURNER, an expert on this subject and who was for many years connected with Messrs. Lyon & Healy, of Chicago, in this department, we are in position to carry on this branch of our business with the utmost proficiency.

What this Collection Includes

From the sweet and mellow old German violins at $40.00 to the beautiful Amati and the divine Stradivarius at $5,000.00.

An elegant assortment of fine old bows from $10.00 to $125.00.

A fine lot of beautiful leather cases for one or two violins, extra bow cases, fine bridges, pegs, tailpieces, in short every thing that a fine violin requires.

Our Fine Italian Strings

This part of the business is the most important of all the violin's accessories. We have, without a doubt, the finest lot of strings that has ever been brought to the Pacific Coast, and will exercise great care in selecting them for our customers. Every string will be carefully gauged and tested by our expert before it leaves the house, therefore assuring our patrons of perfect results.

Violas

Some fine instruments from $25.00 to $350.00.

Violin Cellos

A few very fine cellos, both German and French, from $50.00 up and some elegant Italian instruments from $300.00 up, and our cello strings are the very best.

Repair Department

The repairing of valuable instruments is one of our best features. The department is of course under the direction of our expert, who brought a man from the east with him and who is reputed to be one of the best in the business.

We will cheerfully give estimates of costs, also our opinion as to the amount and character of repairs necessary to produce best results.

Expert Opinion of Old Violins

Being recognized an authority on this subject, we will pass opinions and issue certificates of same for $5.00, which is a small fee considering the knowledge it requires.

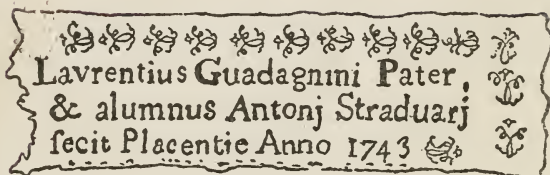

How You Can Buy

While we prefer to sell for cash, we do not make this an absolute rule. As an accommodation to our customers we sell, when desired, for part cash, and the balance in monthly payments secured by installment notes. The cash payment must be at least $\frac{1}{4}$ the price of the instrument. We will exchange any old violin bought of us within one year, and guarantee every instrument we sell.

For the benefit of those who live out of the city, we will send violins on approval for seven (7) days, providing the proper references are furnished. This gives the customer an opportunity to test the instrument before purchasing. We take old violins and cellos in part payment, and in case a better instrument is desired at any time within a year, we will allow full price for any old violin or cello bought of us, applying the amount on the new purchase so that nothing will be lost in making the exchange.

Persons ordering instruments on trial must pay express charges both ways if there is no purchase made.

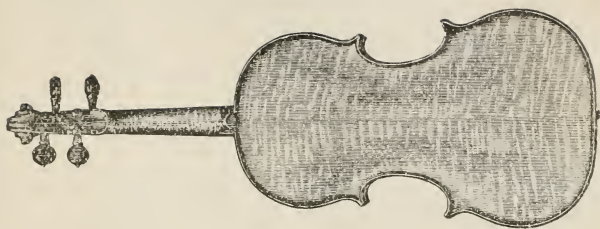

DESCRIPTION AND PRICES

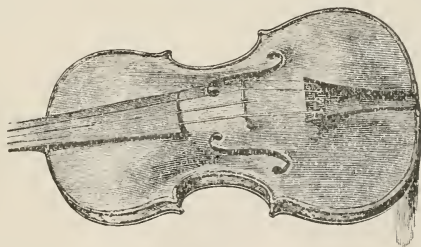

238 Laurentius Guadagnini, Cremona, 1737

Price $2,000 00

A very perfect specimen of one of the greatest violin builders of Cremona. Specimens of his work very rare. Eagerly sought for. It is in perfect condition. No cracks or patches. Back formed of one piece of maple cut on the $\frac{1}{4}$. Top of even grain spruce. The varnish original and of a rich deep orange red, beautifully shaded and worn. Scroll original. Thick in wood. Beautiful quality of tone, very strong and far carrying.

Francesco Ruger detto il Per Cremona 1697-

Francisco Ruggeri, Cremona, 1700

Price $1,800 00

This maker was a pupil of NICOLÒ AMATI, and occupied a very prominent place in the history of violin making. This violin is a very fine instrument of the NICOLÒ AMATI type, is in a fine state of preservation, and has a robust tone with plenty of quality. The varnish is of a beautiful amber yellow, the general condition is excellent.

Dominicus Montagnana Sub Signum Cremonæ Venetiis 1729.

Dominicus Montagnara, 1732

Price $1,500 00

This is a beautiful specimen of this master's work. The model is excellent and the outlines broad; the wood is of the choicest kind; the tone is remarkable both for strength and quality; the varnish is of a beautiful red-brown and very attractive. This violin is especially adapted for concert purposes, when a really first-class instrument is desired. It is full size and in a fine state of preservation.

Francisco Stradivarius, Cremona, 1742

Price - - - - - $1,200 00

FRANCISCO STRADIVARIUS inherited all the tools and wood of his father in 1738. He was undoubtedly a great workman and made many beautiful instruments, many of them having been made in the work shop of Antonio Stradivarius. The instruments he made in the years 1740 and 1742, and which remained after his father's death, in the possession of his brother, Paolo, were sold at the same price as those of his father. The condition of this instrument is first-class, there are no patches or new wood and the tone is exquisite through the entire scope. The varnish is of a dark brown order, tinged with red and is altogether a very handsome instrument.

201 Vander Slagher, Holland, 1750

Price $150 00

This violin has a very strong tone and is very brilliant. The model is large and it is in fine condition. We recommend this one as a fine orchestra violin.

202 Sebastian Klotz, Mittenwald, 1700

Price $400 00

The work of this maker is much esteemed and is superior in pattern and style to that of his father, Mathias. The model is of the AMATI type and the tone is very smooth and rich. The varnish is a brownish red, and of good quality. The general condition is excellent. No patches and plenty of wood.

203 Nicolaus Gagliano, Naples, 1740

Price $475 00

This maker belonged to a family of excellent violin makers and his work is much sought by connoisseurs. The wood in this violin is most beautiful. The top is of fine even grain and is all that could be desired as far as wood is concerned. The back is one piece and but slightly flamed. The tone is rich and very brilliant. This violin is an excellent solo instrument and anyone who is lucky enough to possess it will be proud of it.

204 Nice Old German

Price $60 00

This violin was made about the year 1712 and is in good condition. The tone is soft and mellow and is just the thing for a student.

205 Hartman, Weymar, 1824

Price $100 00

This is a very good violin of the STRADIVARIUS type and possesses a very powerful tone. The varnish is of a ruddy brown and very good quality. We would recommend this instrument for some orchestra leader on account of its power.

206 Phillip Achuer, Mittenwald, 1809

Price $100 00

This is a very nice violin of the STRADIVARIUS type. The varnish is a deep red and very transparent. The tone is very brilliant, and the quality is all that could be desired for a medium priced instrument. It is very fine for solos.

207 Hartman, German, 1823

Price $75 00

STRADIVARIUS model, good wood and varnish, responds easily and is a good violin for orchestra work. The tone is big and it plays easily.

208 Hulinski, Prague, 1798

Price $75 00

This is also a good violin for orchestra. It is in good condition and has a very nice quality of tone. Varnish is deep red very pretty, just the thing for a pupil who wants a nice smooth tone.

209 Michele Deconet, Venice, 1756

Price $400 00

Model of this violin is of the AMATI STRADIVARIUS type. Varnish is reddish yellow, very fine. The wood is beautiful, straight and even grained, not too fine. The tone is exceptionally fine, the quality is very velvety and it plays easily. We can recommend this instrument for concert work, as the writer has tried it in a very large hall, and it carries fine.

210 Carl Grim, German, Berlin, 1820

Price $175 00

This is really a fine violin for any purpose. It is in elegant condition and has a beautiful round and rich tone. The varnish is of an amber yellow with a tinge of red in it. The work is exceptionally well executed. The model is that of STRADIVARIUS, it responds easily and is very brilliant.

211 Thos. Perry, Dublin, 1776

Price $150 00

This maker has certainly turned out many good violins, and some of them command admiration in many respects. The tone of this instrument is sweet and clear, the varnish and workmanship are excellent. He was a fine workman ; copied Nicolas Amati very closely and was sometimes called the Stradivarius of Ireland.

212 Francois Richards, Paris, 1840

Price $80 00

A very nice violin of the STRADIVARIUS type, with large smooth tone. Suitable for most any purpose. Brownish red varnish, good condition.

213 Thos. Perry and Wm. Wilkenson, Dublin, 1811

Price $125 00

The Wm. Wilkenson mentioned on the label of this violin, became a partner of Thos. Perry about the year 1810, and all the violins after that period bears the firm's name.

214 Caussin Nicolas, French, 1840

Price $125 00

Large STRADIVARIUS model varnish brownish yellow, good quality, good instrument for orchestra, big brilliant tone.

215 L. Bausch, German, 1829

Price $200 00

The tone of this violin is simply immense, it is very powerful and of fine quality. The model is that of JOSEPH GUARNERIUS. The wood is of the finest character and the workmanship excellent. This violin was played in concert by Mr. Adolph Rosenbecker, the noted Chicago violinist, and he said it was an excellent solo violin as well as an orchestra instrument. The varnish is deep red and very handsome.

216 Gio. Bap. Tononi, Boulogne, 1740

Price $500 00

This is an Italian violin, and its maker enjoyed the reputation of having made some excellent instruments. The model is high and the tone is very beautiful, being of a very dark color and is very rich and mellow. We would especially recommend this instrument for a lady, on account of its easy playing qualities. The varnish is of a beautiful amber yellow and plenty of it.

217 Nicolas, French, 1822

Price $150 00

Large flat model, powerful tone and of good quality. Amber yellow varnish, good wood, and in fine condition.

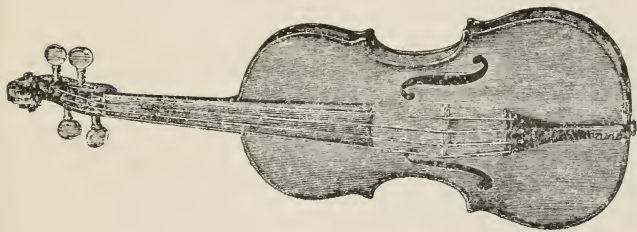

218 Petrus Antonis Della Casta, Italian, 1767

Price $350 00

For tone, both quality and quantity this violin is a beauty, and any one wishing a fine tone instrument would certainly secure a gem in this one. The model is flat and of the STRADIVARIUS character, it plays easy, and carries fine in large hall.

WHITELAW'S CREMONA VARNISH

This varnish has attained a celebrity which is world wide on account of its unequaled quality. It possesses the merit of the famous varnish used by the Italian masters, and Mr. Whitelaw, who is an expert chemist, at the cost of endless experiment and research, has succeeded in producing results attained by no other since the secret of Cremona died with the famous Italian makers. With this varnish violins can be coated in a style not possible by any other method known, and with an ease which will be appreciated by those who have tried the usual methods. It is now in the power of the amateur to finish his violin in a style superior to any other modern work. In fact, his varnish will compare favorably with that of the old masters.

This is strictly an oil varnish made with amber as a basis. It will not fade in the strongest lights, to the contrary strong light improves its luster. It works very easy as it does not set for fifteen minutes, therefore making it possible to lay it on perfectly even. The wood does not need any preparation. The varnish laid on the clear wood at once forms its ground work, and does not enter into the wood at all.
